HE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS. (From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of 'Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of Chins and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in onental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India (From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1865. Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Note and Queries on thina and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, litera-1. It is hereby notified for general in- ture, history, manners and customs of the The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, (From the "London Examiner," May

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports China and Japan"] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao, R has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * * We have thus given in outline some of devoted to Cauton; as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remaind r of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places. In the introductory chapter to the notices of the Treaty Forts of Japan will be found the more prominent portions of the chapter

a succinct history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geography, and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable light on a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans. The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yo. kohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are as elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. A copious in dex and a useful appendix containing many hints and much appropriate advice to travellers and others, is also included in the volume. The entire work affords a 1886 amount of information, pleasantly written, and we doubt not will be perused with interest by many who will never visit the Mastern seas:

The reports freely circulated amongst the Chinese of the North that within a short period the hated foreigner will be finally expelled the capital do not, however baseless, tend to reassure one. It is, however, to the system of charges building bridges, and for the improvement dock there is no hardship in charging the Dock Dues to that vessel. But to charge Mate as well as the Broker-and all this -is indefensible in principle and most impolitic in practice. It is a system against which we have at all times protested in this country, and wherever it is pursued it must be to the detriment of Maritime Commerce. There is no more reason that the ships frequenting a Port, and the cargoes the bring, should be compelled to pay for the maintenance and improvement of that Por than that the railways running into should be called upon to pay for the same purpose. Both are carriers, but only one is marked ont for special exaction. The question suggested by the recent Imperia Decree for establishing Tonnage Dues at Dunkirk is a large one, and imperatively demands the attention of the Governments of the two countries. It by no means disposes of the question to say, that the Maritimo Trade continues to increase, notwithstanding the system of local charges on ships and goods. The maintenance of that system is an impediment in the way ei Trade. It is, for the most part, unfair those on whom the charges rest, and, like the system of the Tonnage and Differential Duties (now happily abolished), belongs to an age in which the principles on which Maritime Commerce should be conducted not properly understood in any

THE HEAT IN AMERICA. - A correspondent of a London paper says :- All the states and territories atter the same story of continuous hot weather without precedent in the Republic. This American sun has during the week been as fatal to our people as a pestilence. In 37 cities and towns in the United States there have been, since Friday, more than 1,700 fatal cases of sunstroke, and more than 7,000 cases not immediately fatal. In the city of New York alone, during Monday, Tuesday, Wednes. day and Thursday, 450 deaths from sunstroke were reported by the registrar of vital statistics. Of these, nearly 200 were reported by the police alone at the several stations. The lists of victims, as printed in the New York papers, look like the lists of killed and wounded of a great battle; their headings are almost the same-"The Dead," "The Suffering," &c. During any one of the four days named it has been almost impossible to walk a square in New York without passing a knot of persons collected about a dead or dying viotim of the weather: and every apothecary's shop has had ics curious mob peering in at the lifeless form on the counter. It has been easy to trace out the lines of the street railways in New York by the dead horses alone. In the Central Park, in the great manufacturing establishments on the highways and in the docks, work was totally suspended in New

MARRIED BY ACCIDENT. -An English divine, who has since risen to eminence, owed his marriage, and a long and happy domestic life, to a mere accident. He had contracted an affection for a lady of the neighbourhood in which he first preached, but, through dread of a refusal, could not bring himself to the point to a direct proposal. The more he thought of it, the more he became dismayed at the prospect. He was not that kind of man who can quickly interpret a woman's feelings from her looks and manner, but was overcome with fear that she could never love him. He had almost resolved to abandon the field to a bolder, if not a better man, when he suddealy took a desperate resolution to know the worst. "He carefully prepared and sealed two letters, each addressed to the lady: in one of which he made an earnest: proposal of marriage, and in the other merely requested the loan of a book. Shaking them together in his hat, he called his servant. and bade him take one and deliver it. "Which one?" asked the servant. "Either," was the reply, and the man took one at random and departed. The minister threw the other into the fire without examining it, and for the next hour pacel the floor of his study, auxious and miserable. He had resolved to abide by the event of this queer proceeding, and that if the book came with the servant, he would for ever abandon all aspirations to the lady's hand t the end of that time the man returned with a note, accepting his offer, and inviting him to tea. The overjoyed young man told his little experiment to his betrothed over a cup of tea that evening, and was soundly rated for his dulness in not comprehending the "signals of distress" which had been continually displayed to him from time to time. But some men are wonderfully stupid about these matters. - Huppy Hours. ...

A Shock .- Walking one day along the streets of Auckland, we observed before us a tall graceful looking female figure, the folds of whose black silk dress were duly distended; a crape shawl and stylish hat making up a perfectly unexceptionable toilette. Suddenly a shop window attracted the fair one's attention; she stopped and turnedoh horror upon horors! what a sight met our gaze! We wish to say a few words upon a sub ject which bitherto has not been treated in any very serious spirit, but which, nevertheless, is worthy of more than a passing notice. We allude to the wonderful jargon that has gradually become the recognised mode of intercommunication between foreigners and Chinese, and which is known by a word peculiar to that language itself. Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (Dec., 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Mrs. Forbes, wife of the Chaplain at Paris, __ I cannot speak too highly of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne: I have not in any single instance been disappointed with the result, even in aggravated cases of Indian Cholera."
